

Angel! Look out!

Angel and his Grandpa live on the Great Barrier Reef in Australia. Grandpa is tired.

"I'm going to sleep now Angel. Be good, and don't go past the coral! There are lots of dangerous animals out there."

"Hi Angel, what are you doing?"

"I'm bored. Grandpa is asleep."

"Do you want to come and play?"

"Yes, let's go!"

"Look Turtle! A ball!"

"Look out!" That isn't a ball! It's a dangerous octopus! Swim!"

"Angel! Look out! There's a dangerous fish behind you!
Angel, you must be careful here. You've got to stay with me!"

"I'm sorry Turtle. Look! I've got a present for you."

"Aargh! This is a dangerous cone shell! Drop it quickly, Angel!"

"I'm tired, Turtle. Can we rest here?"

"Don't sit here, Angel! There's a dangerous sea snake! Quick! Swim!"

"Where we are?"

"I don't know. I think we're lost. Look out Angel! That's a box jelly fish! Swim!"

"Look out Turtle! A dangerous animal is behind you!"

"That's not a dangerous animal. It's Doug, he's my friend."

"Hello Doug, we're lost. Can you help us?"

"Yes, I can help you. I'll take you home."

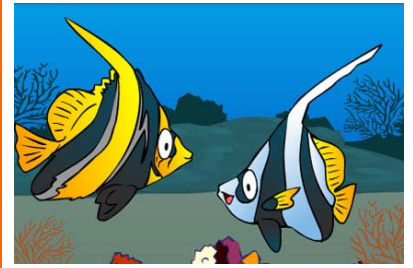

"Hello Angel."

"Hello Grandpa."

"Oh, you've been a very good fish, Angel. Here's a present for you."

"Thanks, Grandpa!"

Story

Listen to this story <http://learnenglishkids.britishcouncil.org/en/short-stories/angel-look-out>

Contributed by © Kim Ashmore