Hansel and Gretel were brother and sister. They had a step mother. She didn't like children and wanted to leave them in the forest. The step mother and their father took them to the forest. Hansel dropped pieces of bread on their way.

They passed a hill first. Then they met a big cave. Next there was a beautiful lake. They passed a very big ant hill. There were some flower plants too. Finally they crossed a cool stream. Children did not see any of them because they were unhappy. Their father was very sad. But he left them in the forest.

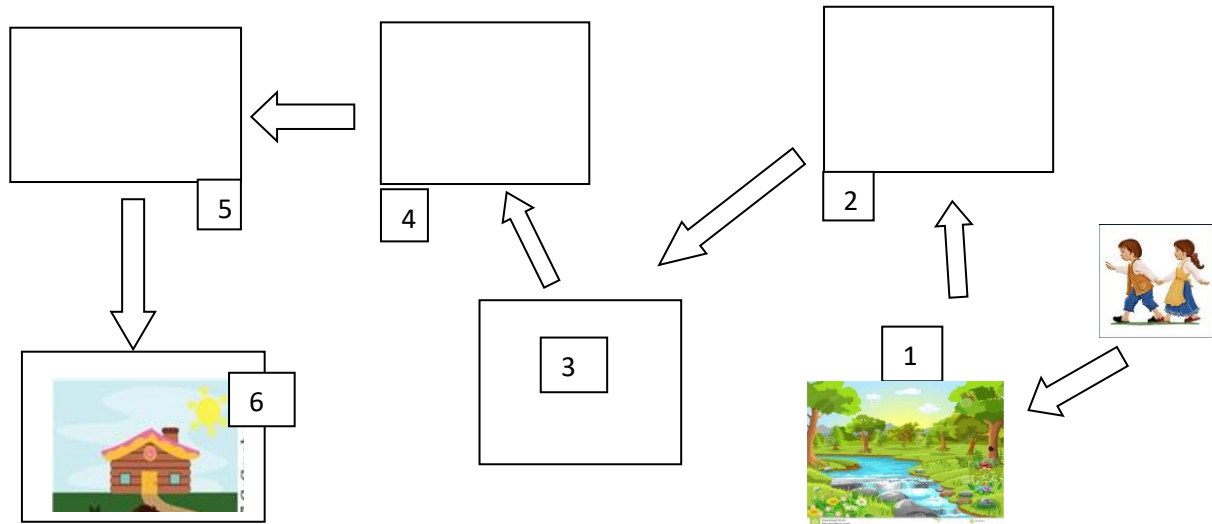

At night they wanted to come back. Alas! Birds had eaten all the bread they dropped. They were sad and frightened.
