Read the passage and answer the following questions.

The fifth of June was world Environmental day. The hottest topic discussed in connection with the environment was the "Greenhouse" effect. Scientists say that in the last 100 years the global temperature has increased by more that ½ a degree celsius. Due to this global warming, there have been droughts in the U.S.A., China, India, Africa and Bangladesh. Some scientists have predicted that this could also lead to a rise in the sea-level.

What has brought about this change? Although climatologists have established global warming as a fact, the reasons have not been definitely proved. The most common cause that has been attributed to global warming is the omission of carbon dioxide from the burning of industrial coal, oil and petrol. Thus over the years carbon dioxide in the earth's atmosphere has been gradually increasing. This increased level of carbon dioxide acts like the glass in a greenhouse, trapping the heat of the sun. It damages the ozone layer of our atmosphere.

Another factor that has been mentioned is the destruction and burning of forests. The world's rain forests are shrinking at a rapid rate. It has been estimated that man now destroys 75 acres of this forest every hour of every day. At this rate of destruction there will be no rain forests left at the end of the 31st century.

Trees absorb carbon dioxide in the atmosphere. So with fewer trees around, global warming has increased. It is necessary then to save trees. But how? It has been said that in some parts of the third world deforestation has been a matter of survival and not profit. People need, land to cultivate and fuel to cook their food and keep themselves warm. So to prevent deforestation we have to develop alternate sources of energy. We must also plant more trees. It has been said that we need to plant 15 billion trees annually for the next 15 years. Then we can not only meet basic economic needs but also remove the excess carbon dioxide build up.
